Evidence-Based Care Web Forum

A New Way to Network

The Evidence-Based Care Web Forum is an effective way for those of us interested in clinical pathways and other evidence-based care tools to network. Using this method, we can communicate at our convenience, in our own offices, to people from around the country and beyond!

The forum is set up with various categories where you can post messages. For instance, there is a “Looking for...” category, where you would post a message if there is a specific pathway you are looking for. Messages are stored in chronological order in each category, and the coloured icon to the left of each category tells you if there are any new postings that you haven’t read.

Visit the site at:

How do I register?

You can visit the site at any time without registering, and view the information posted. However, in order to post messages and keep track of which messages you have looked at and which ones are new, you must register with the site.

Once you have registered, you will receive periodic emails from the site telling you about the latest updates and other relevant information.

To register, click on the heading in the top right-hand menu bar that says “Register”. Just fill in a few simple questions, pick a username and password, and you are registered!

Conference Information

We are using the web forum as a way to communicate with the Care Management Network members. If you are looking for the latest conference information, you will find it under the “Conferences/Meetings” category.

You will find in this category information on the next conference, postings of presentations made at previous conferences, and other relevant information.

There may also be postings in this category about other conferences that may be of interest to members.

Members Information

If you are looking for contact information for a Network Member, click on the “Members” tab in the top right menu bar. All members are encouraged to keep their information up to date.

Starting a New Pathway?

When any of us are starting a new pathway, whether it is our first pathway or our tenth, it is always nice to see what others have done with similar pathways. Thus, we have created a pathway registry. All members are encouraged to post their names and contact information under any pathways they are willing to share in the “Pathway Registry” category, and even attach them if they are willing. That way, any member can see at a glance what others have done, and contact other members for help or more information. We all know it is not worth the time or the energy to “reinvent the wheel” if someone else has already done some of the work.
